'Mountain Justice'

VAUGHN YATES AND VIRGINIA

Vaughn Yates, 26, mountain youth of Bone Cave, Ky., went to Muncie, Ind., to meet out "mountain justice" to Ezra Cole, 30, who, Yates claimed, "stole away with my sister Virgie". And now Yates faces a murder charge in the slaying of Cole. Yates is said to have told police he shot Cole because the latter had taken away his sister from the hills and was living with her without benefit of the clergy.

According to a local insurance agent a woman came into his office the other day and announced that she was going to let her husband's insurance lapse. Naturally the agent advised against this, but the woman declared, "It's no use, I've paid on that policy for ten years and haven't had no luck."

Communications In Shanghai Taken By Japs

Japanese Take Over Complete Charge Of All Communications In City

CENSORS ASSIGNED TO ALL BRANCHES

U. S. Rejects Plea To Give Protection To Chinese Art Treasures

BULLETIN
(International News Service)
SHANGHAI, Nov. 27.—Ignoring the prospect of heated international protests, Japanese authorities today took complete charge of all communications in Shanghai, even those in the international settlement.

Nipponese officials revealed censors had been assigned to all communication services within the settlement, including those operated by American interests.

Likewise, censors were assigned to all branch offices of the Chinese communications ministry—also to the Shanghai post office, radio station and broadcasting station inside the foreign area.

Shortly before Japan's action was formally announced, Japanese representatives visited the offices of the mail, radio and telegraphic services of the city.

Take Over Settlement?
This step was taken amid rumors the Japanese intend to take over the entire international settlement Dec. 1—an action certain to arouse vigorous, if merely verbal, resentment among Britons and other foreigners here.

The situation left foreigners here angrily but helplessly standing by while Nippon clamped her authority on this huge Chinese metropolis. Quiet, but grim, negotiations, completed before the Japanese actually began taking charge of the various offices, left any need for armed force, out of the question.

American concerns are included among those affected by the Japanese action—the Mackay offices and the facilities of the Radio Corporation of America.

At the same time as all authority here of the Chinese communications (Continued On Page Two)

Soviet Diplomats Reported Killed Result Of Purge

Report Five Taken Out And Shot To Death, No Confirmation From Moscow

(International News Service)
PARIS, Nov. 27.—A report, originating in Stockholm, that five Soviet diplomats have been shot in the current Soviet Russian purge of the U.S.S.R. diplomatic corps was published today by the Paris newspaper Le Matin.

The Le Matin dispatch stated that, according to a special edition of the Stockholm paper Nya Dagbladet, the Soviet envoys were executed in Moscow.

Victims of the latest reported Russian "cleansing" were named as: Y. H. Davtian, Soviet Ambassador to Poland; E. A. Asmus, former minister to Finland; S. I. Brodowski, minister to Lithuania, and M. Sjiskov, former military attaché at London.

Britain May Return Some German Colonies

By KINGSBURY SMITH

(Copyright, 1937.)

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Great Britain, it was learned today, is prepared to consider the return to Germany of some of her lost colonies—but at a price and on certain conditions.

The price is Germany's return to a re-hashed League of Nations and her participation in a western European peace settlement.

The conditions are that she administer the restored colonies under a League of Nations mandate and guarantee the political freedom and interests of the inhabitants in the restored colonies.

It was learned French Premier Camille Chautemps when he meets Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain next week will inform the latter that France is now ready to join Britain in granting colonial concessions to Germany as part of a European peace settlement.

But, it was stated reliably, Chautemps will refuse to agree to giving Chancellor Hitler a "free hand" in Austria.

The colonies which the British government is willing to consider returning to Germany under a League of Nations mandate and as part of a general settlement are Togo Land and the Cameroons, on the western coast of Africa. These are two of the least important of the colonies taken from Germany at the end of the World War. Great Britain and France respectively now share league mandates over both of them.

Special Session Two Weeks Old; No Results Yet

Farm Bill Issue Will Be Before House And Senate Next Week

WAGE-HOUR BILL DEADLINE NEARS

By ARTHUR HACHTEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Two weeks in session and the legislative score zero.

This was the record today of the extraordinary session of Congress convened by President Roosevelt to enact emergency legislation for revival of business and agriculture.

With barely four weeks of working days ahead before the regular sessions begins January 3—allowing for Christmas and New Year's holidays—administration leaders frankly admitted the program for the remainder of the present session, aside from passing the farm bill, was very nebulous.

Already apparently definitely out of the special session program was the President's request for authority to overhaul the executive branch of the government in the interest of efficiency and economy.

To Debate Farm Bills
Both Senate and House next week will be debating farm bills reported by their respective committees on agriculture. Administration leaders said they were hopeful that by the end of next week the farm issue would be voted and referred to conference between the two bodies for adjustment of differences.

That the special session at least will have farm relief to record as an accomplishment was generally conceded. But wage-hours, housing and regional planning were still in the lap of the Gods. Tax relief seemed definitely off until the next session of Congress.

The deadline of the bitterly fought wage-hour bill will be reached by next week-end. Rep. Cox (D) of Georgia, one of the leaders fighting the bill, said, "If it appears proponents of the measure will gain the 218 signatures of House members to force the bill out of the rules committee."

Seek 25,000,000 Signatures To Anti-War Plea

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 27.—A nationwide drive to obtain 25,000,000 signatures to petitions which will "help keep this country out of war" was launched today by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Scott P. Squires, commander-in-chief of the veterans organization, announced that 500,000 petitions, enough to accommodate the signatures of nearly two-thirds of the voters in the last presidential election, will be distributed beginning today.

"We want to forcibly impress on congress that the people of this country expect their leaders in Washington to keep America out of war," the commander declared.

When the signatures have been obtained, they will be laid before congress early in 1938, and at the same time a demonstration will be held at the national capital, according to present plans of the V. F. W.

Expect Power Companies Will Spend Millions

Believe Truce Between Administration And Companies Will Be Arranged

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—If the administration and the great power companies are able to reach a truce—and the outlook for that is decidedly favorable—that industry will spend, in the next 12 to 15 months, $1,200,000,000—and maybe a little bit more.

This sum compares with the less than 500 millions that would be spent without any hatchet burying.

There has been a lot of loose talk about 2 billions, etc., but this 1 billion, 200 million, figure is the estimate of key men in the power industry.

This spending is also contingent upon one thing in addition to an accord with the administration—a more favorable investment securities market. The power companies must raise the bulk of this through new bond and stock issues.

Since the collapse in stocks, there has been no investment market, and some of the banking houses are loaded with unsold paper.

That market will have to improve before there can be any large scale utility spending, regardless of what kind of a truce is reached. The program can be started with funds on hand, or from bank borrowings, but the big spending will have to wait on the investment market. And that improvement will not come overnight.

President Leaves Plans For Aid To Business As He Departs For Florida

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Florida's warm sunshine beckoned to President Roosevelt today as he paused before packing his bags to fill several new pieces in the New Deal mosaic designed to jerk business out of the doldrums.

Tonight, the president is leaving for a nine-day trip south, most of which will be spent aboard the White House yacht Potomac off Miami.

Program Of Business Stimulation
Mr. Roosevelt was leaving behind him what he hoped would be an integrated program of industrial stimulation that can be put into effect jointly by congress and the government departments.

Included were:
1. A promise to revise inequitable taxes.
2. Assurances to the utilities interests they had no need to fear additional government competition.
3. An impending proposal to congress that the Federal Housing Act be amended so as to induce small home-owners to build.
4. Another impending congressional proposal that Federal aid to highways be cut from the current (Continued On Page Two)

Yuletide Light Will Be Turned On This Evening

Christmas Lighting System Will Cover Larger Area In Downtown District

ARRANGEMENT BEST IN YEARS

New Castle's business district will blaze forth in all the glory that thousands of colored lights can produce, this evening, when the Christmas lighting system, sponsored by the merchants of the city under the auspices of the Retail Merchants Association, will be turned on for the first time.

The arrangement this year is especially pleasing, and is slightly different from that used last year. In addition, a larger area is to be covered this year.

Instead of placing Christmas trees at the curb, the trees have been placed overhead on the lamp posts, where they will be out of the way of automobile and pedestrian traffic. At regular intervals, strings of lights have been placed across the street, with a wreath in the center, which will also be lighted up.

This is the earliest that the lights have been turned on in some time and will remind the citizens that Christmas is now less than one month away, and as each day slips by, will keep them reminded of the proximity of that great festive occasion.

Ex-President Of Cuba Held In New York

Charge Of Murder And Large-Scale Embezzlement Faces Gerardo Machado

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Long sought on a federal warrant for extradition to Cuba to answer charges of murder and large-scale embezzlement, Gerardo Machado, former president of the southern republic, was under arrest today as he lay on a hospital bed.

The warrant issued on complaint of the Cuban consul general in New York is more than three years old and concerns claims occurred in Cuba before Machado fled from the country in 1933.

It was served by Chief Deputy U. S. Marshal Leo Lowenthal, who only yesterday learned that Machado was hospitalized here. Lowenthal posted a 24-hour guard in Machado's room after serving the warrant.

The murder charge concerns the death of a Cuban consul general in New York who was killed in 1933.

Tokyo's Reply Is Not Revealed—U. S. Has Treaties With China

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The United States government today addressed a sharply worded protest to Japan over seizure of the customs service at Shanghai.

The protest was made to the Tokyo foreign office by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew on instructions from Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

The American action, it was learned, was taken in concert with representations lodged with Tokio simultaneously by Great Britain, France and other governments with treaty rights in the international city.

In Close Touch
Hull said the United States is keeping in close touch with these other governments in a constant exchange of information over the Shanghai situation.

The customs collections at China's great port city amount to 55 per cent of the total government receipts of China. The American concern over Japan's action in taking over the customs service is based on guarantees under the Boxer protocol and other treaties, in which China's customs collections are guaranteed and pay off foreign loans. Among these are Boxer indemnities payable to the American government.

Hull said Ambassador Grew informed the Tokio government that the United States will be "much concerned" if the customs service at Shanghai is so dealt with as to affect its present functioning and the orderly distribution of funds.

Reply Not Revealed
Tokio's reply to the American protest was not revealed.

Hull said he was unable at present to discuss any expression of attitude on Japan's intentions of action at Shanghai. This government, it was stated, has also informed Japan that all treaty rights (Continued On Page Two)

Doctor Faces Dual Murder Charges

Double Crime Is Charged To Him

Accused Of Killing Father-In-Law And Mother-In-Law With Gun

DOUBLE SLAYING OCCURRED SUNDAY

(International News Service)
HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Nov. 27.—Accused of killing both his father-in-law and mother-in-law, and refusing to treat the latter as she lay dying, Dr. H. E. Martin, 51, was held under $30,000 bond today.

A double murder charge was placed against the physician, despite his position as a respected citizen, when investigators declared their probe of the murders of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Grant McNichols, prosperous farm couple, led to the doctor's door.

Francis Griffey, the doctor's 20-year-old secretary, testified at an examining trial yesterday that when Mrs. McNichols, mortally wounded, was brought to Dr. Martin's home, he told the neighbors who were carrying her:

"Don't bring that woman in here or I'll kill you."

Miss Griffey also testified that, shortly before the shootings, she found Dr. Martin practicing marksmanship with a 22-caliber rifle inside his home, using three of his wife's hats as targets.

Later the doctor sent her out for 50 cents worth of 32-caliber cartridges, she said.

No testimony was taken from Mrs. Martin, daughter of the slain couple, because of a Kentucky law which forbids a wife's appearing in a case involving her husband. Mrs. Martin left the courtroom without looking at her husband.

The double slaying was committed Sunday. At the trial it was stated McNichols' last words were: "God bless your head." Defense counsel said there would be no immediate attempt to make bail because of reported feeling in the victim's family.

Two messages to congress will be left behind by the president for delivery next week.
On Monday, about the time he is shoving off into the gulf stream for a few days of relaxation to restore the vitality that was sapped by his infected jaw, congress will receive his new housing proposals. On Tuesday, congress will receive a previously prepared message from Mr. Roosevelt suggesting that Federal aid in state highway construction had passed all reasonable bounds.

The White House was withholding the president's travel itinerary until the last minute. It was understood he would board a train here late tonight for a slow run that would get him into Miami early Monday morning. There, he will immediately go aboard the Yacht Potomac.

Son and Secretary James Roosevelt and Dr. Ross T. McIntire, White House physician, were understood to be two of those who will go on the fishing trip. Secretary Marvin H. McIntire, with a skeleton of office staff, will maintain a temporary base at Miami with the aid of telephone, telegraph, radio and navy seaplane mail delivery.

U. S. Turns Down Appeal.
Meanwhile, it was learned, the American embassy turned down a Chinese appeal for protection, within the limits of the neutral zone which United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson proposes to establish in Nanking, of China's national art treasures.

These ancient treasures are valued at $100,000,000.
The Chinese are anxious to prevent destruction of their centuries-old imperial bronzes, jades, porcelains, paintings, ivories and embroideries which the Nanking government, ironically as subsequent events proved, moved from Peking's forbidden city in 1933, fearing Japan would occupy the northern center.

At that time six special trains transported the precious cargo to the now abandoned capital of Nanking—carefully crated in 13,000 cases.

So far the treasures are safe in Nanking, but the Chinese were sorely disappointed when the American embassy declined to take on the responsibility of protecting them. The treasures include fabulously rich art objects which were transported to London on a British warship for the 1935 international exhibit at Britain's capital.

While the Japanese in Shanghai, allegedly violating the Boxer treaty, forcibly seized a British-owned pontoon south of Soochow creek, the armies of the mikado speedily pressed forward against Nanking and completed their domination of key points on all but the western shores of Lake Tai.

Worst London Fog Vanishes

Traffic Had Been Halted For More Than 24 Hours By "Pea Soup" Mist

(International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 27.—Lifting a choking, smothering shroud from the bodies of ten victims, the worst fog England has experienced in several years, vanished today.

Traffic which had been halted for more than 24 hours by the "Pea soup" mist slowly resumed, and ships which were forced to lie off shore in a gale finally put into port. Visibility of only six feet which made it necessary for pedestrians to link hands to avoid falling, led directly to the ten deaths. At least a score were injured badly enough to need hospital treatment.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FAMILY COMRADESHIP
Some of my readers have enjoyed the many articles and books by my good friend and lover of boys, Archibald Rutledge. In his latest book, "An American Hunter", he has a chapter entitled, "Why I Taught My Boys to Be Hunters".

While I am aware that not all my readers would agree with Mr. Rutledge, I venture to pass along some of his remarks:

"During the last 25 years I have rarely taken to the woods and fields without having one or more of my own sons with me. Few human relationships are closer than those established by a mutual contact with nature; and it has always seemed to me that if more fathers were woodsmen, and would teach their sons to be likewise, most of the so-called father-and-son problems would vanish."

"I decided primarily to make them sportsmen, for I have a conviction that to be a sportsman is a mighty long step in the direction of being a man. I thought also that if a man brings up his sons to be hunters, they will never grow away from him. Rather the passing years will bring them closer, with a thousand happy memories of the woods and fields."

Prefers Boys In Woods
"Those parlor naturalists and lollypop sentimentalists, whose knowledge of nature is such that they would probably take a flying buttress for a lovely game bird, are incapable of understanding that it is far less cruel to kill a wild deer than to poison a defenseless ox in a stall. The ox has no chance, but the deer has at least four chances out of five against even the good hunter."

"While other boys are whirling in the latest jazz or telling dubious stories on street corners, I'd like to think that mine are deep in the lonely woods, far in the silent hills, listening to another kind of music, learning a different kind of lore."

"If the sentimentalists were right, hunting would develop in men a cruelty of character. But I have found that it includes patience, demands discipline and iron nerve, and develops a serenity of spirit that makes for long life and long love of life. And it is my conviction that if a parent can give his children a passion and wholesome devotion to the outdoors, the fact that he cannot leave each of them a fortune does not really matter so much. They will always enjoy life in its noblest aspect without money."

"A NEW GOLDEN RULE"
I thank David Seabury for writing "The Art of Selfishness".

I thank him for educating me a little. I hope his wisdom sticks. I think him in particular, for reminding me of something I should have known without his help.

I am grateful to him for letting me see that the Golden Rule as we sometimes interpret it can be brass or base lead and evil thing.

We all know the words of the Golden Rule. We can say it glibly: "Do ye unto others as ye would that others would do unto you."

And yet there are times when men use that rule as a harsh weapon against those they love.

It is a lovely command, but we misinterpret it. We forget that if the other fellow is unlike us, we may be cruelly to treat him as we would like to be treated. Let us suppose that I am a tough individual who can take it and who loves

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON—Senator H. Styles Bridges (R) of New Hampshire, urges repeal of the president's power to issue $3,000,000,000 in greenbacks:

"Business men and bankers gravely fear that a highly articulate mind in our population may seize upon a recital of business as an argument for the dope-relief of paper money inflation."

DETROIT—Dr. Emanuel Gamoran of Cincinnati urges Jewish youth to develop an appreciation of Jewish culture as a safeguard against "feelings of inferiority and corrosion of character."

"To a very large extent the creation of spiritual, cultural and aesthetic values is dependent on the response given by the masses to such achievement."

NEW YORK—Frederick P. Koppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, recommends more grants for professors:

"A modest grant to some man who has retired from his duties and financial awards may sometimes make possible the completion of important research or of a valuable book."

Words of Wisdom

One may smile and smile and smile and be a villain still.—Shakespeare.

We are all vain, and the man who gave Ford his first job at $4 a week probably says: "I made him what he is."

The unusual are the lucky ones. The big guy is respected because he is big; the little guy fights harder and wins because he is little.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:37. Sun rises tomorrow 6:58.

Scientists estimate the mean temperature of the sun's surface at 12,000 degrees Fahrenheit. That's more than mean—it's fierce.

Rubdub—What a loving wife you have. Here you've been married for 15 years and I notice that she still meets you at the door when you come home from work.

Hubbub—Yes, she's afraid I'll forget to wipe my feet before I go in.

Some diet expert has it all figured out that a chap can live 100 years by eating raw carrots.

Baran Munchausen is heartbroken. It seems even the hogs on his ranch won't believe him when he calls them.

Why not also take a census of those on all kinds of relief? We hear a lot of things, if true, should open the jail doors for some and shut the relief opening for others.

We notice some of the contributions to community chest campaigns in some cities the donations are made "anonymous." Well, that's far better than not making any under the right names. There is a good reason for giving not wanting to be known.

Two Connecticut resort hotels which once catered to gay crowds have been converted into churches. So—even Satan, too, has his own depression.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

A violin and piano concert was in progress and the music being played called for a number of solo effects by the violinist.

During one of these a dear old lady leaned forward and poked the youngster at the piano with her umbrella.

"Never mind," she whispered, "I expect he'll play something you know in a moment."

Local Man (on meeting a girl on the street): I sent you a kiss over the telephone. I hope you understood it.

Girl: Oh, yes, I understood, all right enough. But to me a kiss over the telephone is like a straw hat.

Man: A straw hat? How?

Girl: Why, it isn't felt.

President Roosevelt has bought a farm adjoining his at Hyde Park. Maybe he is like a lot of others and wants a farm to live on after they cannot get along in the city any more. We may all have to have a farm or not eat some day.

Dr. Slicem: "Now, don't worry about your wife. You'll have a different woman when she gets back from the hospital."

Chubbywit: "But what if she finds it out, Doc?"

Colonel Roosevelt's youngest boy one day came into his father's office at the White House, and said: "What do you do here all day, father?"

"Oh, nothing," smilingly answered the Colonel.

"Well, then," asked Kermit, "how do you know when you are done?"

President Roosevelt is praised for modesty in an editorial because he said "Presidents do make mistakes."

But wait a minute—he didn't say ALL presidents did he?

"I'm going to have to raise your rent this month," said the landlord to a local man.

"That's fine," enthused the tenant. "I never heard you say anything I liked better."

"Did you hear me right?" asked the puzzled landlord. "I said I was going to raise your rent for you this month."

"I heard you," said the tenant. "I'm glad you are. I haven't been able to, myself."

If one could only trade in the worn out body for a newer model.

An Ohio congressman is advocating a law that will give the United States a national lottery. This will make it possible for Americans to lose their money at home and the government will get what they lose. Maybe that will be all right as long as people insist on losing their money in lotteries.

A boy, undergoing an examination for a position, came across the question: "What is the distance of the earth from the sun?"

He wrote his answer as follows: "I am unable to state accurately, but I don't believe the sun is near enough to interfere with a proper performance of my duties if I get this clerkship."

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

Dear Miss Markel: While one is wearing mourning what social restrictions should be observed?

ORPHAN.

Answer: Such social invitations as to dances, evening theater parties, formal dinner parties, teas, receptions and afternoon affairs should not be accepted, but it is in good taste to enjoy with a few intimate friends a matinee performance of a more or less serious play or picture, a quiet dinner or luncheon. If such diversion will elevate your spirits, it would be foolish in these modern times to deprive yourself of them. But regardless of your feelings, make a heroic effort to maintain an existence as active as normal and with as many direct personal contacts as before your bereavement.

Dear Miss Markel: Is it obligatory to return calls of sympathy?

BEREAVED.

Answer: No, since the family is in mourning and has no social obligations.

The World At A Glance

Shocks Will Mar Year End.
Some Facts To Be Faced.
Prosperity Is At Hand.

By LESLIE EICHEL,
Central Press Columnist
THE AMERICAN PUBLIC will have to insure itself to several great shocks during the usual joyous year-end.

The unemployment census, which although it skipped thousands, will be far above what had been anticipated.

Last-quarter earnings of many corporations will be exceptionally low. In fact, there may be no earnings.

Railroad rates may be increased (a form of taxation) in spite of the fact that increased rates hitherto have deprived the railroads of business rather than helped them.

Farm income for the year may be nearly half a billion dollars less than had been anticipated, due to falling prices.

Relief figures, instead of being cut, may have to be doubled. Public works may be undertaken on a greater scale than ever, as the winter reveals the full extent of the immediate aid needed.

And, yet—everything is here for prosperity, if men with imagination and vision fearlessly lead the way to economic and social readjustment. That does not mean any "foreign doctrine." That means a common sense, realistic facing of the economic stalemate we have reached—and a recognition that natural laws are governed by evolution even if men and society pretend not to be.

FEAR PSYCHOSIS

One sees with dismay the headless, wild running around in circles of some leaders in industry, with many would-be political leaders tagging along after.

The only cry being uttered by many is "Balance the budget," and "Curb Roosevelt."

Every sensible person, of course, believes in a balanced budget. But suppose the national budget were balanced this very moment? How long till every industry were bankrupt? How long till the unemployed rose in revolt? One can't take drink from a man without giving him a substitute that will steady him and hold him up. Take it away too suddenly, and you'll bury the man.

Curb Roosevelt and there may be not a Vandenberg in 1940, but a La Follette or much, much farther left. Any newspaperman who goes out among the populace will give you the same answer. The pendulum might swing so violently, this way and that, it could swing even a Fascist dictator into power.

Unreasoning fear and invectives, therefore, may bring on the very conditions which are dreaded most.

If some sound reasoning, calm men could rise in industry and lead the way, the government and labor certainly would join hands with them. Everybody prays for a solution of the economic impasse. But few desire to travel the hard, realistic road that is necessary.

TO PASS?

The present setback, of course, will pass when goods on hand have been consumed. A nation of 130,000,000 persons, after all, has tremendous needs. Also government spending again will provide a fillip. Once more there will be a ride on the merry-go-round—but merry-go-rounds get no one to a destination.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

Bells

Bells have always stirred the imaginations of those who listen. One of Edgar Allen Poe's great poems was about bells. He listened—"To the throbbing of the bells,

To the sobbing of the bells,

To the rolling of the bells,

To the tolling of the bells."

Bell makers have worked mostly for religious orders, and they have striven to make bells with beautiful tones. Some have miserably failed; others have gorgeously succeeded. Father Proet, the Irish Priest poet, wrote of the "Bells of Shandon," and in that poem he says:

"I've heard bells tolling,
Old Adrea's mole in,
Their thunder rolling
From the Vatican,
And cymbals glorious,
Swinging uproarious,
From the gorgeous turrets
Of Notre Dame."

And he goes on to say later:
"There is a bell in Moscow,

SATURDAY, NOV. 27

On Other Nov. 27th, 1636—François d'Aubigne was born in a French prison, daughter of worthless parents. She was to die wretchedly at 85. In between she was the wife of Louis XIV, France's most magnificent ruler. History knows her as Mme. de Maintenon, though she was the wife of one Paul Scarron before she wed the king.

1878—Marvin H. McIntyre, one of the many secretaries to the President, was born. Other birthdays today: Carl A. Hatch, b. 1889, senator from New Mexico who was born in Kansas; Dr. Charles A. Beard, b. 1874, distinguished historian.

1902—All that remained of Christopher Columbus was born to his final resting place in the Cathedral at Seville, Spain. His remains were buried four times, in three different countries, none of which was his homeland.

23 Years Ago Today—Adrianople, Greece, was subjected to the first notable airplane bombing attack in history, during the war of Bulgaria, Serbia, Montenegro and Greece against Turkey. That day foreign observers got ideas for the coming World War.

25 Years Ago Today—Albert T. Patrick, lawyer, was pardoned by Gov. Dix of New York, after having been condemned to death on the charge of murdering Dr. William M. Rice, rich Texan, in New York, after he got control of his fortune, after the most sensational trial of the first decade of the 20th century. (Patrick now lives in Tulsa, Okla., is active in business and civil affairs.)

SUNDAY

On Other Nov. 28th, 1582—William Shakespeare, 18th, was married in Stratford-on-Avon, to Anne Hathaway, 26, six months before the birth of their daughter, Susanna.

1785—Four plenipotentiaries signed the first treaty between the U. S. government and an Amerindian tribe, the Cherokees, whereby the former undertook to guarantee the integrity of Cherokee lands in South Atlantic States against white encroachment. Article V provided that if whites violated the treaty, the Cherokees might punish them! But the government had to build forts to protect the Amerindians from the white land-grabbers. However, nothing could protect the Amerindians from grafters, and eventually they were driven west over the historic "Trail of tears."

1831—John W. Mackay was born. He came to the U. S. penniless and left it one of the richest men on earth. He personally superintended removal of $150,000,000 from the Comstock Lode, of which he owned 70-fths, working below ground as a common miner long after he was a millionaire. He was the father of Clarence Mackay, telegraph tycoon of today.)

1847—First steamboat in California waters left San Francisco for Sacramento, then a six day journey.

1866—David Warfield, beloved dean of American boarding schools, died Nov. 28 birthday: Edward Raymond Burke, b. 1880, senator from Nebraska; Selma Lagerlof, b.

1858, Swedish novelist of world wide fame.

1886—Sadie Allen and George Hazlett went over Niagara Falls together in a barrel on a dare, and lived to tell the tale! George was able to celebrate that night, but Sadie had to nurse her stomach, which was violently upset during the three-hour ride. There is no record of George's darddeviltry extending to marrying Sadie.

Just Folks

SILLY DREAM

Such stuff as dreams are made of! Last night one came to me.

Though very real in fancy, I knew it couldn't be.

It seemed that I was sitting nearby in some safe

And caught a conversation 'twixt two across the way.

Oh, she was young and pretty and he was seventy-four.

His withered hand she patted. They took the dancing floor

And round about he toddled. 'Twas plain for rest he yearned.

"You're just as young as ever," she said when he returned.

Thought I, the gray old geezer for that will promptly fall.

When lovely maidens flatter men lose their senses all.

But this one knew his mirror. "I know my age," said he;

"No girl as young as you would waste her time on me."

"I'm old but I'm not foolish! My wits are not asleep.

My only charm is foolishness, and that I'm going to keep."

Surprised was I to hear him so shrewd an answer make.

But what she said I know not. I'd laughed myself awake.

A woman should not wear a formal evening dress to the theater when accompanied by a man wearing ordinary street clothes.

QUICK RETURNS IN SEAL SALE

North Mercer Street Man Speedily Sends Contribution For Seal Packet

If everybody in Lawrence County would return their dollar for Christmas seals as fast as Thomas C. Davis of 714 North Mercer street, the seal drive would be over in a hurry, and successfully so.

The seals were delivered by the mailmen on Friday morning. In the afternoon mail Mr. Davis' enclosure was delivered to the Christmas seal headquarters.

By Saturday afternoon all the seals will have been delivered it is thought. The sheets contain 100 seals, the size of postage stamps. Persons who receive the seals are asked to mail their dollar or more back to the seal headquarters as soon as possible.

This isn't just a campaign to raise money. It is a continuance of the fight against tuberculosis. The Anti-Tuberculosis League has waged battle on the scourge for years and the sale of Christmas seals has financed much of their work.

You can't equal the speed record of Mr. Davis but you can follow his example by mailing in your dollar promptly.

Missionary To Be First U. P. Guest

The annual thank-offering service of the missionary societies of the First U. P. church will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The guest speaker for this occasion will be Rev. E. V. The church, under the direction of A. Alfred Taylor, will render appropriate music and will be assisted by Gladys Pulkinson Moorhead as guest soloist.

Haensel And Gretel Will Be Presented Here December 2

Sponsored By Parent-Teachers Association—Part Of Junior Program Effort

On Thursday, December 2, at the Ben Franklin high auditorium at 3 p. m. the National Music League Opera Co., brought here by Junior Programs, Inc., will sing "Haensel and Gretel" in English for the enjoyment of children and adults in this community. The event is sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association of Lawrence county.

The opera, "Haensel and Gretel," based on Grimm's fascinating story, "Babes in the Woods," suggested itself to the National Music League as an excellent way in which to amuse his sister's children. Once drawn into musical being, however, it proved to be a most diverting production that appealed to all ages. The version has been so modified that any disagreeable phases (according to youthful opinion) have been removed and all characters take on a sympathetic glamour. Thus something that started as a nursery whim developed into a full size opera and in a very short time achieved wide popularity in Europe. Even now, it is a part of operatic repertory with its appeal as strongly adult as it is juvenile.

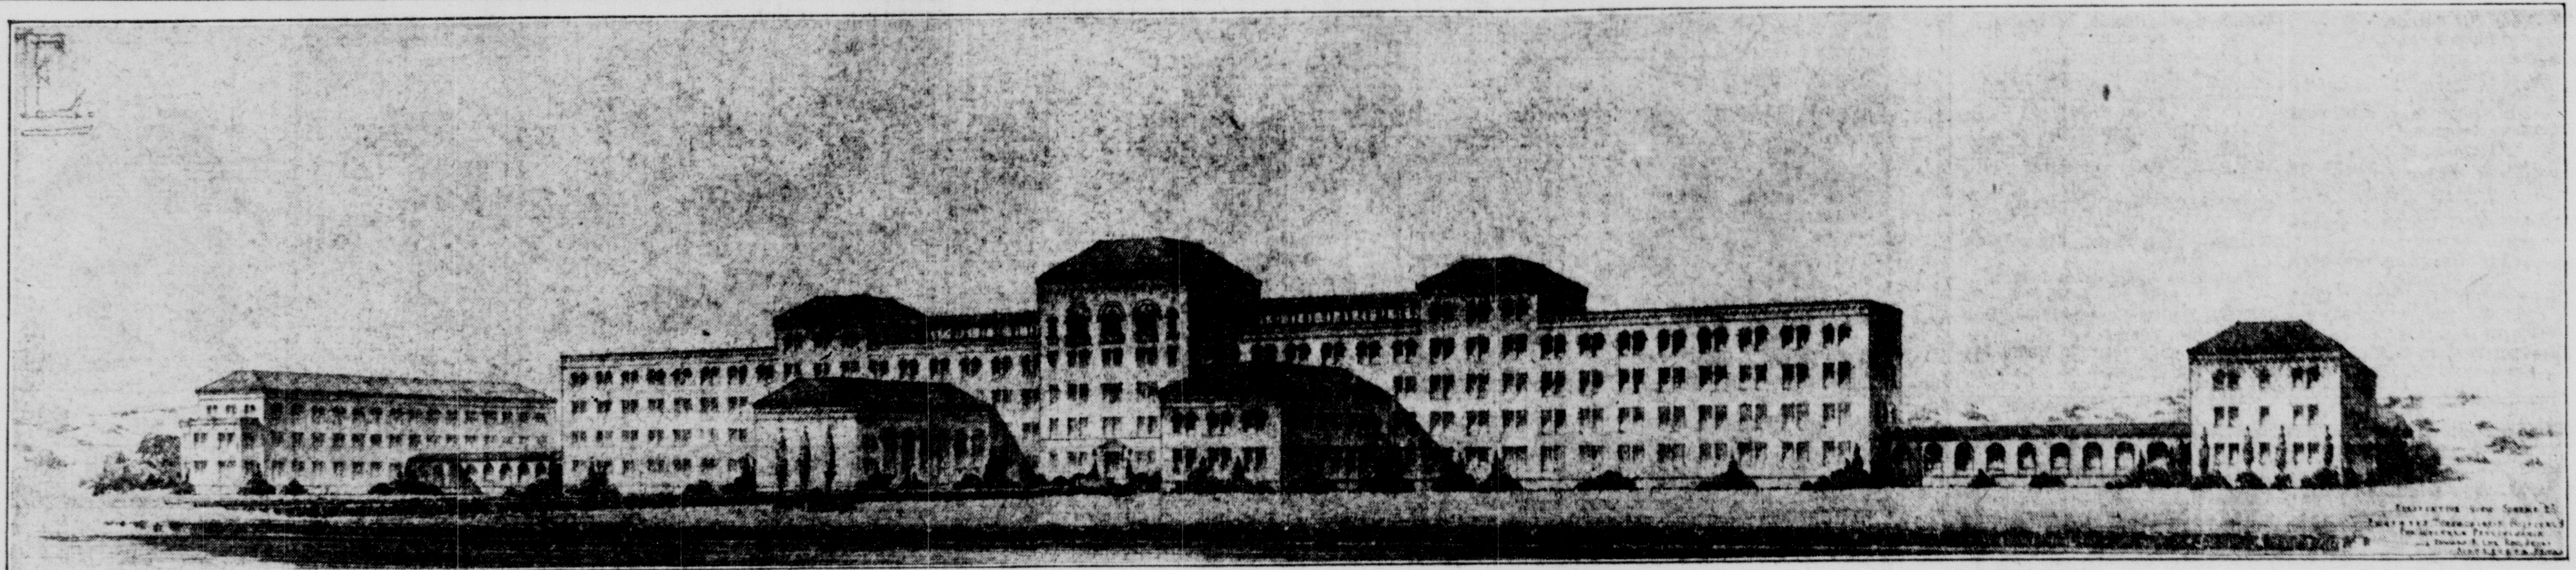

Deep in the Hartz mountains of Germany near the little village of Illsenburg, is a wild, rocky woodland held very much in awe by the German children, who are often taken on a pilgrimage to this enchanted spot. For here is the Illsenburg, the large rock familiarly known to them as the witches' kitchen, and here they listen again to the tale of the wicked witch who enchanted little children and turned them into gingerbread, a legend dear to children the world over. The opera tells of Hans and Gretchen who are sent to the woods for strawberries and become lost. The Sandman finds the babes and sings them to sleep while the witch comes to a happy conclusion when the parents recover their lost children.

Pulaski Church Pageant Will Be Seen At Leesburg

The pageant, "The Colonial Presbyterian Church in Western Pennsylvania," which was presented at the Pulaski Presbyterian church centennial celebration earlier this month, is being repeated on Friday evening, December 10, in the Leesburg Presbyterian church. It will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The U. S. federal prison population rose more than 1,000 during 1936. Liquor law violators constituted more than half of the total commitments.

Sketch Of Big Sanitarium To Be Built On New Castle-Butler Highway

HARRISBURG, Nov. 27.—With the approval of Public Work Administrator, Harold L. Ickes, for federal participation in the erection of the new Western Pennsylvania sanitarium, on the New Castle-Butler road, near Butler, the last obstacle has been surmounted, and bids will soon be accepted.

On a wind-swept stretch of farmland in Western Pennsylvania, a novel project, a community dedicated to new health and happiness in the commonwealth will soon take shape under the able hands of an army of artisans.

This community, a complete medical center, is the answer of Pennsylvania's Governor, George H. Earle and its Secretary of Health, Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, to the challenge laid down by tuberculosis.

All the facilities known to Dr. MacBride-Dexter, the State Department of Health and the medical science, will be incorporated in this better health community, promoting it as a monument to a new day in humanitarian consideration by a great commonwealth for its sick and distressed.

In the next few weeks, Dr. MacBride-Dexter reveals, the contract for the project will be let, ground broken and Pennsylvania will be away to a venture both unique and highly essential to the well being of its citizens.

This project, for which $2,645,000 has been allotted by the General State Authority of Pennsylvania, is to be located on what is known as the Robinson farm, on route 422, New Castle-Butler road, about two miles from Butler on the route to New Castle.

It will consist of twelve subdivisions or operations, namely, a main building with two wings, a special children's wing, a nurses' home, a dormitory for paid employees and another dormitory for patient employees, a two-family house for the medical director and his aide, a laundry and garage, a warehouse, power plant, a water supply system and a sewage disposal plant and then linking all a series of connecting tunnels and corridors.

"Facing the highway," says Dr. MacBride-Dexter in describing the community

Tax Experts Have Problem

Worry Over Kinds Of Taxes To Levy And Whether Congress Will Vote For Them

SOME TAXES BOOMERANGS

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Fiscal experts are having a terrible time trying to hit on a method to reduce or wholly abolish certain federal taxes without correspondingly increasing other taxes and yet without reducing the total of Uncle Sam's tax receipts.

There is an economic axiom known as the "law of diminishing returns," which the experts are "up against."

The idea is that taxes can be increased and increased and increased up to a certain point, all the time yielding more and more; but after that point has been passed many tax-ees simply quit business, discouraged, whereupon they no longer are producing anything to be taxed. From that point onward tax collections dwindle—and dwindle faster and faster with each succeeding rate increase.

THE INTENTION

What is called the "undivided profits tax" appears to have worked this way. The intention with this tax was to compel corporations, which were making money, to pay all that money out annually to their stockholders, in the form of dividends.

The argument was that profit-making companies were in the habit of tucking away a large part of their gains as "reserves," thus keeping that much cash out of useful circulation. Also, it was reasoned, a regular distribution of these dividends would jar a percentage of them loose in the shape of income taxes.

Accordingly, the notion was to place too heavy an import upon these reserves to make it profitable for the companies to keep them undivided.

A FAILURE?

It was done, and, for the current economic recession, that tax is held largely responsible. The administration itself admits that the plan was worse than a fizzle.

Maybe the companies HAD overdone their reserves a trifle. Still, they were entitled to save up a bit against possible future rainy days. Incidentally they were entitled to save up with a view to opportunities involving subsequent expansion—with increased commercial activity and more employment.

The tax estopped any such program.

WHERE ELSE?

New Dealers admit their mistake. They do not admit it with much enthusiasm but they are willing to have the tax trimmed or even abolished.

But their question is: Where else are they going to get that revenue?

WHY CONGRESS BALKS

By a "broadening" as they say, of the "income tax base?" If so, a lot of us folk who have paid (and pretty grouchfully) small income taxes, will have our assessments raised. And a lot of others, who have escaped heretofore, will be "stuck" henceforward.

What will that do to the future electoral chances of lawmakers who voted for it?

It will retire a couple of hundred of them.

Or shall it be done by a federal sales tax? That will increase the cost of living. Try to get congress to vote THAT!

TRY TO TRIM!

Yet federal expenditures cannot be trimmed.

It is suggested—but, phooey! The minute the thought is mentioned the national conference of Mayors descends on Washington, and thru Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia and New York, backed by Chicago and St. Louis and Milwaukee and every other important place, demands more relief funds.

They have got to be reductions without reducing.

No wonder fiscal experts are worried.

Exhibits Coolness When Slayer Appears

How would you, Mr. or Mrs. Reader, like to be all alone in an office, late at night and have a man, considerably agitated, enter your office and inquire as to the condition of a man he had shot and killed only a short time previous?

No doubt you would be startled; perhaps greatly excited. But there is one man in the community who did not become startled. Neither did he become excited. Instead, he picked up a revolver, pointed it at the man and replied:

"He is dead. You are under arrest."

And the man? Dave Nelson, former sergeant of police but now a police car operator. Prior to embarking upon a career as a policeman Nelson was a railroad. He heard the call of Law and Order, submitted an application for a police berth and was recommended by the late Samuel A. Barnes, mayor.

He was sworn in on October 11, 1921, which gives him slightly more than 16 years of service, during which period one who works every day or night garners considerable experience and knowledge of "Who's Who."

After serving three years as a patrolman he was named a sergeant, December 15, 1924.

Of his rank, it was his duty to be the director of the force, whenever the night lieutenant was not at headquarters.

And then came, the night of the shooting.

He was making some reports, rather leisurely, with no thought of a murder, robbery or any other serious breach of crime.

The telephone sounded.

Nelson grasped the receiver.

An excited voice told a quick story of a shooting in the First ward. Nelson obtained the address, the victim and the assailant.

Within a moment headquarters was a bee-hive of activity. Men rushed to the scene of the shooting.

The sergeant soon obtained more information. This was passed on to men on the beats via the telephone system and also given to police in surrounding cities.

The man, who had left the scene of the shooting, had by this time become the fox with the officers the hounds.

It was a case of catching the assailant before he could hole up, should he so desire.

All of the available man power at headquarters, except the sergeant, engaged in the man hunt.

Drumming fingers on his desk and waiting for "tips," the sergeant was brought abruptly to his feet by a man who walked into the sergeant's office which was, in those days, no more than a "cubby hole."

The man asked:

"How is that man who was shot?"

"He is dead. You are under arrest," Nelson replied, pointing a revolver at him.

"I then placed the handcuffs on him for fear of possible resistance," Nelson said.

He knew the man, hence his action.

Twenty minutes later the late Henry Dysart, then in charge of the night turn, walked into headquarters. As he saw the prisoner he remarked to Nelson:

"I want to congratulate you on your work."

All of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

A rough and tumble encounter. My friend is a sensitive person of great ability, but unfitted for fierce combat. I do unto him as I would be done by and break his heart. . . . So the Golden Rule means that I should do unto him as I would wish to be done by—IF I WERE HE.

David Seabury tells of a man named Jasper Judson who had fought his way up to wealth and security. He had worked since he was 12, had never played. He had a son who was a dreaming young musical genius, and he tried to force his son into business, worked him hard and drove him with a lash. So the son, "went bad," ran away, ran wild; but finally settled down to his own musical, artistic, creative life.

And Jasper Judson, the father, who thought his son should be exactly like himself, was bitter and resentful until David Seabury convinced him that he had used the Golden Rule selfishly and egotistically.

Mr. Seabury calls his interpretation the New Golden Rule, but it is not that. It is only the wise and true use of this great instrument of happiness. . . . I need it—and YOU may need it, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Collins and son were week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Monas Collins, of Leesburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Glavney and children attended the wedding of John Stodolak and Eleanor Sniezek at New Castle on Saturday.

Miss Florence Hardisky, who is attending Grove City high school, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hardisky.

Mrs. Clarence Campbell and daughter Shirley Mae and Miss Mary Serwatka spent Tuesday afternoon with Miss Mary Koprivnak of Grove City.

When the Pandiscan Fathers came up out of Mexico, they brought with them bells and among them were the Bells of Santa Ysabel. They became known all over California in those old Spanish days as "The Sweet Bells of Santa Ysabel."

These bells were always rung by some representative of the Indian family of La Chusa. Enrique La Chusa was the last of the bell ringers. He died in his home in Carisito Canyon one day in October of this year at an age or more than ninety years. He and his father had rung these bells for more than a century.

In 1926 some vandals stole the bells; for what purpose, it was never known, but the bells have never been recovered. It is said that the tracks of a truck were seen leading up to and under the bells, which were hung to a cross-bar by lowered the bells, apparently, the truck disintegrated with the bells. As these bells probably contained a large alloy of silver, the vandals probably melted them. One of the bells bore the date of 1723 and the other the date of 1767, so they were not made by the same bell maker, but each had a very marvelous touch.

Later when a new chapel was built at Santa Ysabel, a small bell was hung in a niche reserved for it. It was a great disappointment. The sound was flat and dull; it had no musical quality whatever. Enrique, true to his love of the old bells, refused to ring it.

No bell has rung at Santa Ysabel since 1926.

No Red Flag Waving Says Police Head

Union Truck Pickets Must Keep Red Flags Off Of State Highways

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 27.—Commissioner Percy W. Foote, of the Pennsylvania motor police, decided today that waving of red flags by pickets in Western Pennsylvania's truck drivers strike would have to stop.
Foote directed Jacob C. Mark, commander of the Greensburg station of motor police who is in charge of the Pittsburgh-Johnstown district, to contact leaders of the picketers and put an end to the use of the red flags.
"Public sentiment has been against the use of red flags by the pickets," Foote said, "and I have consulted the Department of Justice and found the red flag is universally recognized as a signal of danger. Its use otherwise can be construed as an offense under common law as a public nuisance."
"I have therefore decided that no good can come from the waving of a red flag where there is no evidence of danger ahead."

Geneva Resumes Grid Relations With Grove City

Teams Schedule Game For Next Season At Reeves Stadium

(Special To The News)

BEAVER FALLS, Nov. 27.—Geneva College's 1938 football schedule calls for a revival of the old Geneva-Grove City feud terminated a few years ago because of subsidization misunderstandings. A schedule of nine games has been arranged by Athletic Director A. C. Edgemoor, which includes games with seven schools met this season. Akron U. and Davis Elkins having been dropped and Grove City, and Washington and Jefferson, after a lapse of a year, being added.

The Geneva athletic department has a two year agreement to go back to Lancaster to play Franklin and Marshall. However, since the Armistice Day celebration is to be held in Beaver Falls next year an effort is being made by Mr. Edgemoor to shift the game here. The Covies and the Little Presidents have unsanctioned their mutual difficulties with a contract calling for a game in Washington next year and games in Beaver Falls in 1939 and 1940.

The Geneva athletic authorities are satisfied that their 1938 schedule is one of the best in several years, the presence of Grove City and Wash-Jeff, along with the other district schools being the reason for satisfaction.

The schedule:

Sept. 23—Lock Haven, at home, (night).

Oct. 1—Albright, away.

Oct. 7—West Chester, away, (night).

Oct. 14—Grove City, at home, (night).

Oct. 22—Waynesburg, away.

Oct. 29—Wash-Jeff, away.

Nov. 5—Bethany, at home.

Nov. 11—Franklin-Marshall, (date undecided).

Nov. 19—Westminster, at home.

Alabama Sure Of Bowl Bid

But, Which Will It Be Rose Bowl Or Sugar Bowl At New Orleans

(International News Service)

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 27.—Henry Crisp, athletic director of the University of Alabama, today flatly denied that the Tide had decided to refuse any bowl bid.

Replying to reports that the Tide, undefeated and untied, had decided to turn down a Rose bowl bid in preference to the Sugar bowl at New Orleans, Crisp said:

"We have not done anything about anything."

The Tide will give consideration to either the Sugar bowl or the Rose bowl if a bid is received, Crisp said.

Although no official announcement has been made, it was considered a virtual certainty that the Tide would be invited to New Orleans as the "host" eleven.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

The high light of last night's sport was the defeat of Bob Pastor by Nate Mann in a 10-round bout at New York City, which is automatically squelched any demand on the part of Pastor for a titular bout with Joe Louis. Seven thousand fans turned out to see the fight which was characterized as slow and uninteresting. Pastor was down but got up without a count in the first round. In another heavyweight battle Alberto Lovell of Argentina knocked out Tom Beaupre of Dallas in the first round of a scrap which was docketed for eight rounds. A right to the chin spilled the Texan.

The boiler factory is at work again and the latest report is that Howard Jones tenure of office as coach of Southern California will end at the close of the 1938 season. The same report had coupled to it the rumor that Bernie Bierman of Minnesota and Frank Thomas of Alabama, are leading candidates for Jones' job.

Panama Al Brown, former bantamweight champion of the world, is attempting a comeback and in his attempt at Paris last night looked good in action; so good, in fact, he not only outpointed Poppy Deccio of France but had the Frenchman on the floor three times. Brown dropped the crown three years ago.

Mrs. Comfort Daniels Christian, 109, has just been granted an old age pension. She lives in McDowell county, West Virginia, and has left her mountain home but once in the last 40 years. Mrs. Christian is the mother of 16 children.

Army And Navy Playing Today In Grid Battle

Army Favored To Upset Middies In Annual Classic At Philadelphia

MRS ROOSEVELT WILL ATTEND

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—To a mounting tempo that beat itself against the senses with an insistent summons, football's great fantasy came on noisily, even boisterously, in the quiet of the immemorial manner today as a crowd of 102,000 prepared to yield to the romance that is youth in a uniform. It's the great natural drama of brass and braid and glitter, needing neither rehearsal nor script; a show that would cause Barnum to forget his calliope and make the Schuberts tear up their three sheets.

Not even a sudden gray sky and the prospect of showers upon the fantastic painted grass of the sequential stadium this afternoon could dampen the gaiety and joie de vivre of the carnival occasion. Admirals, generals, congressmen and the stage management of official Washington had their seats.

First Lady Attends

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the first lady, naturally had her box, this time on the army side. Secretaries Swanwick and Woodring, of the president's cabinet, were to be there officially and ceremoniously. But these dignitaries were an accepted adjunct of the scene much as the student corps of the two academies.

The real pay off on the smash success of the show was the fact that $17.50 a ticket was being asked around the Racquet club last night with the velvet hint that the market might go to $25 this morning. Not in many years has this enterprise been a mere football game between teams promising an afternoon's entertainment, but never less so than now; apparently, the poorer the football, the more powerful the incentive. The crowd today will be the biggest to see this year. Twenty-five thousand people, a record in itself in inter-city transportation, are on their way here over the railroads this morning from New York alone. Probably 40,000 more than the limits of the stadium permit would pay almost any price to be in on the show.

Both Defeated.

And both principals have been beaten by Notre Dame, itself a twice beaten team. The Army also lost to Yale and was lucky to win from Harvard. The Navy only a week ago finished behind a 26 to 6 score with sub-normal Princeton and, in addition to the Notre Dame defeat, has lost to Pennsylvania, which has lost to practically everybody except maybe the Pawtucket Panthers.

The Army therefore was an 8-5 favorite over-night, with better than a fair chance that the odds would shorten in the event of rain. The Navy, with one of those tight, close order attacks and superior line, figured to capitalize on a heavy turf, if any. As a matter of fact the writer kind of likes the Navy. Why? Because he's seen the Army.

Notre Dame Is Favored To Win

(International News Service)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 27.—Southern California and Notre Dame squared off here today for their annual football battle, this time marking the fiftieth anniversary of football at Notre Dame.

With many of the old-time Irish stars back for a jubilee celebration, a crowd of 40,000 or more persons were expected to witness the renewal of one of the country's oldest inter-sectional rivalries.

Neither team was a decided favorite today. The Irish have come up to the game with two defeats and a tie to mar their record, while Southern California has met with three defeats and engaged in two ties this season.

Wednesday schedule: Highland vs. First Christians; Epworth M. E. vs. First M. E.; First U. P. vs. First Presbyterians.

Pitt Favored To Upset Duke

Durham Excited Over Appearance Of Marshall "Biggie" Goldberg

(International News Service)

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 27.—The Pitt Panthers were favored today in their battle with Duke which will be the biggest event here in recent years.

The latest tabulations favored the Panthers 4-1 and 3-1, but "point" bets were few.

Pitt's untarnished eleven are in prime condition for the fray, except for Johnny Michelson, quarterback, who was injured in the Penn State game. Marshall "Biggie" Goldberg, rated by many for All-American, will be in at left half to see that Pitt rounds out an undefeated season.

Catholics Trim Strollers, 7-0

Gabby DeCaprio Races 80 Yards For Touchdown In Exciting Tilt

In a gridiron game played in a sea of mud, the strong Catholic football team annexed a 7-0 decision over the Strollers, at Centennial field.

Captain Gabby DeCaprio was responsible for "the" thrill of the game in the third period. On an end run, the former New Castle high ace broke loose and tore away for 80 yards and a touchdown. The game was mostly a punting duel between Leo Orelli and Flip Daitanen. The Cats scored the extra point on a pass. DeCaprio to Cagnetta. Fire Conglose played a great defensive game for the winners. DeCaprio was outstanding among the backs. Riley, Evans and Laitanen were the best for the Strollers.

The Cats will play two more games before hanging up the mole skins. Birdie Biondi fleet footed half sprained his ankle and will be out for the remainder of the season.

The lineup:

Catholics: 7

Strollers: 0

GUARD OFFICERS AT GROVE CITY ARE RETIRING

GROVE CITY, Nov. 27.—Retirement of two local officers, long active in the National Guard here, is announced today. They are Captain Ray W. McKay, who has served as adjutant of the 112th Regiment for 11 years, and Lieut. Paul T. Kifer, commanding First Battalion Headquarters Company here.

Captain McKay first enlisted as a private in Co. M here in 1901, but was out of the National Guard for many years, re-enlisting with the re-organization after the World War. Lieut. Kifer's resignation takes the last Grove City man who served with Co. M during the World War.

United States' employment service placements during May and June of this year ran 75 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

Deer And Small Game Will Face Serious Winter

Ross L. Leffler Scores Dauphin County Court For Doe Injunction

OPEN SEASON WAS WHAT HERD NEEDED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—Pennsylvania deer and small game face a winter of "slow, tortured death by starvation" today as a result of the upsetting of the projected open season on coes. Keystone state hunters were warned by Ross L. Leffler, of McKeesport, vice president of the state game commission.

Leffler voiced his prediction in a radio address to hunters yesterday who were at home instead of tramping the woods in search of does as had been planned this week-end. The commission has fixed the special session in the hope of thinning out an excess of does according to Leffler, which is blamed for the condition of the state herd at the present time. The does, according to the commission have consumed the food supply of the fawns and have destroyed food and cover for other small game.

Acute Situation

The suggestion of the Dauphin county court here an injunction against the open season was obtained for a special antlerless deer season following the regular buck season was deemed "impractical" by Leffler.

"Bucks would have shed their antlers and a far greater possibility of upsetting the sex ratio would have arisen than if the season had been held during the period originally scheduled," Leffler said.

"We need better deer, not more deer, and we need better small game conditions in the deer country," Leffler told the sportsmen.

He predicted so many deer will starve to death this winter that next year the situation will be "acute."

Week-ends Are Getting Longer

McIntyre Finds That Weekly Holiday Period Is Gradually Being Lengthened

TRENCHMEN SHY AT SHOW PLACES

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—This is as good a day as any to wonder just how far they are going to stretch the week-end. When I labored in the news-rooms the week-end used to end Saturday. If lucky we got off a little early Saturday afternoon and had Sunday for our very own.

This regulation was general. Then not many years ago we adopted "weekends" which meant we knocked off Saturday at noon or maybe Friday night. Finally we quit early Friday afternoon and showed up fairly late Monday morning. In England I discovered the week-end is from Friday lunch to Monday lunch.

Yet, even so, we have topped merry old England. Adela Rogers St. Johns recently delivered a manuscript to a weekly magazine editor on Wednesday morning at 11. His secretary came out and with a scornful glance said: "I'm sorry but Mr. Soandso left for the week-end this morning."

Illusion: Dorothy Parker is widely three-sheeted as most daring of the punsters. Yet those close to her say she is fearfully shy and rarely indulges the verbal riposte for which she has become noted. Also she is so afraid of newspapermen she has become practically a recluse.

Few non-dog-owners would believe dogs are conscious of time. Yet evidence piles up. For instance, stance, a member of our household goes regularly twice a week shopping and returns at 1 o'clock, invariably prompt. On such days, within two or three minutes of the time for her return, our deaf Boston, Billy, now gone, would arouse himself, asleep or awake, and go to the front hall to sit a few feet from the door—waiting! He never missed.

Eventually most New Yorkers tire of the peck frumpies of the gaudy cafes. There is something irritating to the true trenchman about people who come to a restaurant to be seen more than to express a zest for food. Like that professional party thrower who bounces from table to table, nailing across the room and otherwise trying to be the whole show! The practiced gourmet studiously avoids such places. When he dines out he will find him at rendezvous rarely mentioned in society chit-chat. Dark-timbered sherry and beef have with old prints, and perhaps a collection of steins racked around the wall. Instead of shrieking jazz, the clatter of knives and forks and tinkle of glass. No roster of the "small hour" blades, but diners who know the cut of a steak and to whom a goblet of rare port or a tankard of nut brown ale are help and not a refuge. These ancient, sturdy places keep their hold in the midst of eternal change.

Whenever in this vast crowded center columning seems a mighty task I often think of Will Rice, who lives at a crossroads place in the deep Ozarks, where nothing happens, and yet turns out readable columns for a group of country newspapers. Few strangers come to this crotch of the creek and there are no entertainments such as the theatre, movie, etc. Trains run thru twice a week and night life consists of an owl's hoot or so, or perhaps the mournful strains of a mouth organ from across a faraway ridge. Yet Rice manages to winnow full blooded observations about life and its meaning amid such desolation. Excellent stuff that papers are glad to print. Hidden treasures from lost caves.

Often magazine editors find some of their better pieces come from the abandoned and pining hills of the earth—out where the blackberry bushes hold up the rail fences. Opie Read's fine novels for another generation were turned out in the swamps of Arkansas, far from railroads. Harold Bell Wright got his plots out of the Ozarks. There is something inspiring in a writer's snowbound bleakness. Whit-tier's Snowbound, for instance, and Edith Wharton's "Ethan Frome".

The magazine piece of my own I like better than most was written in a surround of cowering hills of old Mexico in one of those dusks that hang so despairingly until the first twinkles of stars pricks through. My typewriter was on an old soap box and my chair an enormous sack of frijoles. Out the window a shy young deer was tethered to a sapling. A short space away was the clearest pool of water I had ever seen. A pool in which the rock bottom 15 feet below was plainly visible as were a dozen varieties of darting highly colored fish.

PLAN TO BUILD J. Clyde Gilfillan has been given permission by the city to erect a two-story frame and stone residence at 207 Summer avenue at an estimated cost of $5,000.

Real Estate Transfers

Lawrence county commissioners to George A. Durkee, Pulaski $126.12. William M. Edmiston to Edwin R. Edmiston, Wilmington, $1. H. H. Crosby to Lou Marshall, first ward, $50.

John G. Lamoree, successful candidate for district attorney, has filed an account at the county commissioner's office showing that he expended $162.50 during his campaign. Of this amount $150 was a contribution to the Republican county committee.

Petition of Jacob C. Fischer, Burgess of Enon, was presented to court today, setting forth that William H. Simpson had been elected councilman at Enon in 1935, but had never served and had presented his resignation. The petition suggested that Fred Stark be appointed to fill the vacancy, and this was done.

P. F. Gorley, candidate for alderman in the seventh ward, has filed his expense account at the county commissioner's office, showing that he expended less than $50 during his campaign. Edward S. Hanna, candidate for supervisor in Union township, has filed an account showing expenditures of less than $50.

Workmen at the courthouse today partitioned off the corridor from the section in which a room for the county commissioners is to be made. The partition was floored on top so that the plaster will not filter through when it is torn off. The new steps leading from the front porch to the second floor were used for the first time yesterday.

Attorney Robert L. Wallace, administrator of the late William F. Mitchell, has filed papers in a foreclosure proceeding against Frank and Rudy Percic, devisees of Helen Skerbie Percic, deceased, and others, of Bessemer, to collect a balance of $1,448, alleged to be due on a mortgage. The mortgage was originally given to Margaret V. Rankin, who assigned it to Mitchell.

Very few of the divorce cases which are filed in Lawrence county courts are ever contested. An attorney who has handled 160 cases says that out of that number he only had one that was contested.

Letters testamentary in the estate of the late Chester G. Badger have been granted by Register and Recorder William R. Hanna to Jennie M. Badger. Letters of administration in the estate of the late Wesley R. Gormley have been granted to Mabel J. Gormley. Letters testamentary in the estate of Robert R. Barlow of Ellwood City have been granted to Dorothy E. Barlow. Letters in the estate of Jones H. Smith have been granted to Ernest Smith. Will of the late John Varley has been admitted to probate, but no letters have yet been issued.

Petition for counsel fees has been filed by the respondent in the divorce case of Raymond Peranola against Mary Peranola. The application was made on the grounds of desertion. The respondent has since been living with a sister.

About two weeks ago a marriage license was issued to a couple, but a day or two afterwards Probationary John A. Edgar received a telephone message from the girl saying that she wanted the license cancelled. Edgar informed her that she would have to come to the probationary office to do this. That was the last heard of her until yesterday, when she came and lifted the license, so it is presumed that two hearts are again beating as one.

Candidates at the recent election have only until December 2 in which to file their expense accounts at the county commissioner's office. Several have so far failed to do so. If less than $50 was spent an itemized account is not necessary, but a statement must be filed setting forth the fact that the expense was under $50. Squire Young of Ellwood City still holds the record for minimum account, having only spent six cents on his campaign.

Charity Ball To Be Held Tonight

Annual Junior Guild Event Tonight At New Castle Field Club

Tonight at the New Castle Field Club the annual charity ball of the Junior Guild of the Jameson Memorial hospital will be held. Advance ticket sales indicate a large crowd, and the door sale will add to it. Each year the Guild holds a charity ball for the benefit of the hospital. This year it is planned to purchase a resuscitator for use in the maternity ward of the hospital. While this will be used routinely, there is no doubt that a number of youngsters will be saved who otherwise might not live.

The annual charity ball of the Junior Guild is a social event of importance every year. This year's affair should see a record breaking crowd present.

AROUND CITY HALL

Judging from the recommendation of Solicitor William D. Cobau, city council may request the state to exempt from the provisions of the 44-hour week employees who work more than that number. Cobau's opinion stated that firemen and police are not included in the provisions of the law. Police work 48 hours weekly and firemen 72 hours. This latter was stated by Fire Chief A. P. McIlwain today.

There will be held at Washington, D. C. December 6 a meeting of officers of cities where there are airports. It is not yet known if any local officials will attend the meeting. The city will have an airport before next summer. None of the officials know anything about the operation of airports and it would not be surprising were council to delegate some member or members of the body to attend the meeting to collect all the information possible pertaining to airports and operation.

Police station garage door, which operates up and down, is one of the nicest working doors yet seen in this section. It was built by the WPA employees. Due to a typographical error the cost of repairing the city motorcycle was recently given as $310.00. It should have read $130.00. The Harmony Realty company has decided to the city five parcels of land, necessary for the new route from South Mill street to East Washington street. The consideration was $100. Solicitor William D. Cobau recommended the city accept the deeds.

Within not so far distant future the city may have a bridge erected from Croton avenue extension (Rosena site) across the Neshannock creek to the foot of South Mercer street. At least, Mayor Charles E. McGrath believes the demand for such a structure will be natural; and that after the city agrees to build the approaches the county commissioners will have the bridge constructed to benefit traffic. This is what he told James Gilfillan of Neshannock township during council meeting yesterday when the latter pointed to the sharp turn from Croton avenue extension to the South Jefferson street bridge and pointed out that another bridge would prove beneficial to traffic which would flow over the highway when the new route east of South Mill street, becomes an actuality.

Should the opinion of Attorney-General Charles J. Margiotti stand that, police and firemen come within the scope of the 44-hour week law, the council may be required to take action to increase the departments or rearrange work schedules. In commenting on the situation late Friday, Safety Director J. Myron Rice said that if firemen are allowed to work only 44 hours each week he may be compelled to close several fire stations. His only alternative would be to put more firemen to work, thus increasing the payroll. Although Solicitor William D. Cobau's opinion, stating firemen and police do not come within the provisions of the 44-hour law was written before the attorney-general issued his opinion, Cobau continued to hold Friday afternoon that in his opinion, they do not. The question may be taken before the supreme court, should exemptions not be allowed for police and firemen.

Britain Will Make Bargain

Will Make Concessions To Hitler In Exchange For Air Raids Safety

(International News Service) LONDON, Nov. 27.—Safety from air attacks is the price Britain will demand from Germany in return for concessions to Chancellor Hitler in Central Europe, it was reported today.

According to reliable sources, Britain will urge upon the Reich an arms limitation pact aimed at limiting the size and number of powerful bombing planes and eliminating offensive weapons capable of launching surprise attacks.

The British will also seek to include a clause outlawing terrorism of civilian populations through sudden aerial assaults. Prime minister Neville Chamberlain is expected to outline these plans to Premier Camille Chauvins and foreign minister Yvon Delbos of France when they come here next week.
